Good evening Shari,

Please see the embedded link.

- In furtherance, my window has still not been repaired... so I have a poster board up there to block the draft.

One last thing, if you want a date with me, you don't have to file a claim; just send me a text message, or pick up the phone. I'll work it out (around my schedule (academic) -- typically evenings are better for me. Donate the money to the needy instead; wasting the city's resources is something which is generally frowned upon by the courts, particularly for false claims.

By the way, I cleaned the plumber's shoe prints which he left all over the place... Pray do tell where those boots have been - I had to polish, clean, and sanitize everything - so thank you for that.

Yours truly,

Bo Dincer

p.s. I thought you were sending over a birthday cake btw, that plumber was not the surprise I was expecting. I mean come on.... the fire department did a walk through my apartment the day before the "inspection" - which was a total waste of time and not in good taste. If you'd like to come over and take a look for yourself; just let me know when; and thanks again for the letter.
